

Elders in Training | Song Lyrics

Meet me at the threshold With open arms and heart Take me back to the village where the dance of life can start

Listen, listen to the bell of truth don't need explainin' you're clearing the way for the elders in training

Listen, listen to the bell
of truth don't need explainin'
you're clearing the way for
the elders in training

Meet us at the threshold with open arms and hearts take us back to the village
where the dance of life can start

Listen, listen to the bell
of truth don't need explainin'
you're clearing the way for
the elders in training

{ I trust the echoes of the footprints that my future self have left around you }

We love you. We love you.
Echoes of our future songs Echoes of our future selves, echo all around you,
echo all around you,
all around you, all around you
We love you. We love you...

Listen, listen to the bell
of truth don't need explainin'
you're clearing the way for
the elders in training

Meet us at the threshold

Listen, listen to the bell
of truth don't need explainin'
you're clearing the way for
